

Chinese New Year

On 26th January, 26, my family and I took the Hong Kong West Kowloon high-speed rail to Quanzhou City to visit my uncle and cousin.

My elder cousin drove me to many places. It was so exciting. I thought it was like a simulation! I ate hotpot every day and it was delicious. All the food at my cousin's house was tasty, and I received many red packets. I watched spectacular fireworks which were very colourful; I felt proud of myself.

We went to West Street, where there were many snacks, such as ice cream, barbecue, fried chicken, pizza, noodles, and large juicy sausages. I nearly drooled when I saw them! We also visited Kaiyuan Temple and had a family reunion dinner for Chinese New Year.

Next, we returned to Hong Kong and visited my oldest uncle, who is my dad's eldest cousin. We ate sweets at his house, and he gave us red packets, handmade bags, crisps, salmon, and more sweets. I said, "Thanks".

Finally, we went home. I had a wonderful New Year! I was excited to see my cousin and to have so much fun together. I already miss my cousin and uncle very much, and I will visit them again next Chinese New Year.

A special day in my Chinese New Year holiday

The school started the Chinese New Year holiday two weeks ago. It was my first time visiting the Big Buddha on Lantau Island.

First, I went to the Buddha by cable car with mum and my grandparents. We sat inside a crystal cabin with a glass floor. The scary part was when the crystal cabin was above the sea. We screamed when we looked down.

Finally, we arrived at the Buddha. It was an amazing place with many visitors, lively music, and colourful souvenir shops. We also walked up 256 steps to see the Buddha. I was very happy to see the beautiful view from the top.

Chinese New Year is in the middle of February and 2026 is the Year of Horse. Before the Lunar New Year, my family and I decorated the house with red couplets, prepared the snack box, got haircuts and visited the flower market.

During Chinese New Year, I visited my relatives and got red packets. I ate lotus seeds, sweets and sticky rice cake. I also watched a lion dance show.

I enjoyed the Chinese New Year because it has many traditional Chinese features.

A special day in my Chinese New Year holiday

During the Chinese New Year holiday, my family went on a cruise. We swam in the swimming pool and took a lot of photos. We had so much fun!

However, on New Year's Eve, my mom and dad were sick. They had a sore throat and a high fever. Therefore, my grandparents took me to a restaurant to have steak. I loved it because I like steaks, but my grandparents thought it was not delicious. That night, we did nothing else because my parents were sick and I was sleepy. At last, we did not go to the countdown party at the end.

It was a disappointing day, but I hope my parents get well soon.

Chinese New Year

17 February 2026 is the first day of Chinese New Year. 2026 is the Year of the Horse.

On this day, my family and I do spring cleaning in the morning. We feel tired but happy. After lunch, we get haircuts and buy new clothes. I buy a white sweater and grey trousers. I feel very cheerful! After that, my uncle and I decorate the house with red couplets. This is my first time putting up Spring Festival couplets, and I feel delighted.

Grandma cooks a delicious reunion dinner. Then I visit my relatives. They give me blessings and red packets. I feel excited. At last, we watch fireworks. They are beautiful.

I like Chinese New Year because it is lively and fun.

A special day in my Chinese New Year holiday

I started my Chinese New Year holiday on the eve of Lunar New Year, which was in the middle of February. My birthday fell on Chinese New Year, so it was the most special day for me. This year, I celebrated it in New York.

On my birthday, a big snowstorm hit New York. The city was covered with beautiful white snow, but the storm also caused a lot of trouble. We had to stay in the hotel and celebrate my birthday there. We ate delicious food, played games, and took photos with my cousins and aunties.

Celebrating my birthday during the New Year with my family made me feel satisfied and joyful. Being surrounded by snow made it an unforgettable memory.
