

My Disney Trip

I went to Disney with my friends and teachers, but not with my family. From the moment we arrived, excitement filled the air. We hurried through the entrance, eager to explore the park and ride the iconic Space Mountain.

But before we played anything, there was another activity for us. It's called "Disney's STEAM Program". We learned about gravity.

Then, it was lunch time. I ate a sandwich and we enjoyed a mix of the thrilling rides and enchanting attractions based on Disney movies. The best part was creating memories with my friends and teachers as we shared laughter and took fun photos together.

Our Disney Trip was more than just a visit to an amusement park, it was an adventure that brought us closer together and left us dreaming of the year.

My Disney Trip

"We're going to Disneyland next week!" All our jaws dropped open. For school trips, it seems impossible to visit a theme park, unless the whole class gets straight As in their exam. Most people only visit Disneyland during very special occasions. But that's exactly where me and my classmates went to on the fourth of November.

The day started off with grouping and meeting up with the tour guides. They introduced us the history of Disneyland, and the most significant cartoon character to himself, Mickey Mouse. Do you know that the mouse was originally called Mortimer Mouse? Later, Walt Disney changed his name to "Mickey", which sounded more appealing to children. The guides also told us that in this theme park there are many bridges that are very useful.

Next, the tour guide took us to try some rides. So, I paired up with my friends Marshall and we had a cheerful time together. First, we tried an Ant Man - themed shooting game, during which we learnt about how to calculate ratio. However, I ended up getting fewer points than he did! After that, we also tried the spinning cups along with two other teachers, to learn about centrifugal force. We also listened to the guides to learn about illusions and extensions.

Later on, it was finally the free time period, and that's where the real fun started. Of course, I immediately gathered with my friends' group, Marshall, Genevieve, Adi, Cyrus and Caspar, along with Lorey and our group teacher Miss Lui. After having lunch, we went to our first ride - the infamous Space Mountain. Even so, Genevieve and Caspar were too scared to try. So, we went without them. The ride was very futuristic, including special effects and sudden turns. It was definitely worth a try! Right after that, we went to a 4-dimensional movie about Iron Man rescuing the entire Hong Kong. It was definitely stunning! We didn't waste any time after that and went to probably the best roller coaster we tried on that day, Big Grizzly Mountain Runaway Mine Cars! The ride started off with some fast turns and into a cave. Then, it let out a drop, and ran up a lift hill, and suddenly, ran back down the hill in reverse! And just as you thought it was over, they hit you with a launch double the speed at first! I could guarantee myself that I heard everyone screaming at the back. Afterwards, we went to a ship to tour around life like animal animatronics. To end the day, everyone decided to ride the Space Mountain again. This time, the ride felt more satisfying than ever. All of us were cheering too. At the very end, we even got to show the mascot Mickey Mouse our very own drawings of him!

And that's how the day ended. At the bus back to school, I couldn't stop thinking about the trip. The things and experiences I had with my classmates felt surreal. Our bonds together have grown a huge lot, and we even vowed to meet up someday and have the same fun we had on that day. This memory will definitely be treasured in my heart forever.

My Disney Trip

Last month, I joined the school trip and went to Disneyland with my classmates. We joined an activity called Disney's STEAM Exploration. We learnt about centrifugal force by playing the spinning tea cups.

After lunch, we started the real adventure in Disneyland. First, we went to play "Space Mountain". It was very exciting. Second, we went to "World of Frozen". We played "Frozen Ever After". The boat climbed a small hill and moved backwards down a slope into Elsa's ice palace. At last, we went to "Grizzly Gulch". I thought it is an ordinary roller coaster, but it suddenly went backwards. It scared me!

That was a perfect day. I learnt about STEAM. And I could go to Disneyland in the last year of primary school.

My Disney Trip

It was the fourth of November, and I was very excited because our school trip had finally come. But this school trip was very special because this time we were going to Disneyland!

Me and the Meme group were very excited to meet Mickey Mouse. On the way, we were all chatting about how to approach Mickey and show him our fan art.

When we arrived, the guides came to give us a warm welcome and taught us some STEAM fun things and how to design some games with those Physics theories.

Then we got into our groups. We had Ashley, Marshall, Genevieve, Caspar, Cyrus, and me. We were with Miss Lui, so we thought it would be bad. But instead, we had lots of fun.

Our first ride was Space Mountain. I was scared at first. I thought it would be extremely fast and would have a lot of sudden drops but Cyrus calmly told me that there were no sudden drops, and it just went fast. When I got on the cart, I was still nervous but the ride wasn't scary at all, it was rather fun!

Our second ride was Grizzly Bear Mountain Runaway Mine Cars. It was fast and when I looked up, I found that there was a part where it would go backwards. So, I started to panic again but I was prepared to ride it. This time, I was not really scared! So, we played it again!

At last, we went to meet Mickey and showed him our fan art. Even though it wasn't beautiful, Mickey still said that it was good. It was such an amazing school trip!

I did my summer homework in the last minute

This summer, I had many plans - going to the beach, travelling overseas, and spending time with my family. Summer homework was at the bottom of my list. Every time I saw my school bag, I told myself, "I still have time." Days turned into weeks, and soon, there was only one week left.

I got scared all at once, I realized that I hadn't even opened my homework folder! I slept late that night because I wanted to get everything done. I was tired from writing, and I almost forgot to read the mathematics reference books.

At one point, I asked myself why I didn't start earlier. The truth was, I just worried to enjoy summer without thinking about school. But doing everything at the last minute was stressful and not fun at all.

In the end, I finished my homework just in time. I was proud, but also a little regretful. Next summer, I hope to plan better and finish my homework earlier. That way, I can relax without worrying about anything.

I did my summer homework in the last minute

"Finish all of your homework. Or else, you won't be able to sleep tonight!" the sound of my mother echoed in my mind. Last year, I did my summer homework in the last minute.

It was summer holiday. My family and I went to Macau to celebrate my birthday. But I only did one piece of my homework. I played with my friends almost every single week and played basketball from Monday to Friday. However, I didn't even touch my summer homework until the last few days, which was the beginning of a nightmare.

My mother asked me "Have you finished your summer homework?" "Um.....no." I said. She told me to do more than one summer homework which was the two easiest homework. The next day was the worst day I've ever had! Although I played with my friends in the afternoon, I still had to do my summer homework at night. My mother was angry about why I hadn't finished my homework. The flames from her eyes almost consumed me. At last, I finished at eleven o'clock.

Through this experience, I have learnt that time management is very important. Also, I won't repeat the same mistake anymore!

A Five-day trip in Mainland China

Staying at home was always boring. So in this year's summer holiday, I went to Mainland China for 5 days and experienced many interesting activities there. Even though this trip wasn't long, I still tried many new things and had a satisfying trip.

On the first two days, I went to Shenzhen with my friends, Rosanna, and we had a great time there. We went to an aquarium, a shopping mall, and bought a lot of things together. However, when we were catching the bus to go back, a little accident happened. She couldn't take the same bus with me when we returned. It was such a plot twist. The next day, I went to Macau and explored different places. It was a relaxing day for me.

After that, I went to a theme park in Zhuhai with my relatives. I saw many different types of animals there, including dolphins, walruses, manatees, whale sharks, polar bears and many others. However, my favourite animal in the park had to be the penguins. They're intelligent, great swimmers and look very adorable. They come in different sizes and types too. The most common types are the Emperor Penguins and the Adelie Penguins. I like the Adelie Penguins more because they're more energetic.

The next day, I and my family revisited the park for the last time and went to a place where you can practise shooting, just like in the Olympics, but without using real bullets. At first, I refused, thinking that it was too tiring. At last, after my parents told me to try, I shot a few times. When I checked the records. I realized that my highest record was 9.3, which was way higher than I expected. "I don't know that I am good at this" I said to myself. On the last day, my family tried go-karting. Unexpectedly, I had to join too. I was really scared, but when the go-kart started, I controlled it perfectly, speeding and turning at the right moment. I can't believe I can drive a go-kart this well. What a perfect experience to end the day!

This trip was pretty short but unforgettable. I had many experiences with my friends and family, saw many types of animals and tried two new activities. I hope I can have another trip like this next holiday so I can try more new things.

A Fascinating Day at Hong Kong Disneyland

Today I went to Disneyland with my family. Before the trip, I was nervous that it might rain heavily, but thankfully it didn't rain at all. We were greeted with sunshine, I sighed with relief.

We started our day in Tomorrowland. We were especially excited to try Hyperspace Mountain. We boarded the 'Spaceship-like' train. I felt like I was flying in the galaxy for away by the mini spaceship. We were amazed by its speed. Lasers were flying next to us, lighting up the darkness.

Next, we went to Grizzly Gulch and I couldn't wait to try the roller coaster, 'The Grizzly Bears'. After boarding the mine carts, we whooshed through a mountain to another, twisting and turning. I felt like I was flying with the bears.

As evening arrived, I sat in front of the castle, waiting for the fireworks to begin. Suddenly, Bang! The first firework blasted off the sky. It was stunning. The crowd cheered loudly!

Today was truly fun and amazing. Disneyland felt magical. It can bring joy to everyone. My emotions felt like they were riding roller coasters as well. I hope I can come here again soon.

Last day of Primary 5

It was the last day of Primary 5. I was happy because I could finally have a long break after the exams and quizzes. On the other hand, I was also sad because I wouldn't be able to see or play with my classmates for 2 months.

To celebrate the end of 5th grade, Miss Tsang planned some celebrative activities. First, we had a snack party. We had to share our food with our groupmates, so I brought a box of chocolate and a few bags of nori. My groupmates also brought some sweets, chips and cola. We had a great time sharing snacks and chatting.

Then, Miss Tsang played a movie for the class. It was amazing and exciting. Suddenly, Miss Lo came into the classroom! We felt overjoyed. It has been so long since we last saw her! She looked healthy and strong, but she always had a face mask on. We all didn't expect Miss Lo to come and celebrate with us since she was very sick and couldn't teach us for about half a year. But even though she was still sick, I could still see her smiling brightly behind her mask. We took some photos. Then, Miss Lo had to leave.

I really missed Miss Lo since the day she wasn't here. I am looking forward to going on our 6th grade journey with Miss Lo by our side. I am also grateful that Miss Lo could recover before our 6th grade.
